Subject: ORGANIZED CRIME PROGRAM
OO: PHOENIX

The Phoenix Division is in the process of reorganizing its Organized Crime Program (OCP) and recently received Bureau authorization to initiate a racketeering enterprise investigation (REI) titled: "LA COSA NOSTRA (LCN) FAMILY CRIMINAL ACTIVITIES IN THE PHOENIX DIVISION (92A-PX-46584)." Copies of Phoenix's LHM initiating this REI have been disseminated to FBI Buffalo, Chicago, Los Angeles, Newark, New York, and Philadelphia as current investigation indicates there are LCN activities within the Phoenix Division related to OC families in those divisions. Copies have also been disseminated to FBI Las Vegas, and Miami since they are considered "open" cities. Specific leads related to Phoenix's REI are being prepared for the above and other divisions.

The Phoenix Division's REI will address the LCN activities identified below, as well as update and verify all of this division's intelligence and investigative matters concerning LCN families, members, and associates, and will attempt to determine the scope and range of LCN activities in Arizona. The REI will emphasize the development of quality LCN sources and develop and maintain quality liaison with local and Federal law enforcement agencies which have an interest in this area.

The Phoenix Division, in cooperation with the Arizona Department of Public Safety (DPS) and the Scottsdale Police Department, has compiled a "Traditional Organized Crime Reference Book," which lists all known documented LCN members and associates who reside either full-time or part-time in Arizona or frequently visit or conduct business in Arizona. This document lists the individual by name, date of birth, residence, and LCN family. As of March, 1989, this document included [REDACTED] LCN members and [REDACTED] LCN associates who reside in Arizona, and [REDACTED] members and associates who are frequent visitors to Arizona from other areas of the country. As part of the new REI, the Phoenix Division intends to take the initiative and continue close liaison with Joseph Bonanno Sr.

JOSEPH CHARLES BONANNO SR.

Racket: Mafia boss.

DATE OF BIRTH: Jan. 18, 1905.

ARIZONA BASE: Tucson.

OCCUPATION: "Retired."

CRIMINAL RECORD: Although arrested several times for offenses including grand larceny, conspiracy to obstruct justice, and possession of a revolver, Bonanno's only convictions are for wage-and-hour violations for which he paid small fines in 1964 and 1965.

ASSOCIATES: Top and mid-level mob figures throughout the West. A top-ranking Mafia figure for more than four decades, Bonanno has overseen most of the traditional organized crime rackets and has been especially active in narcotics.

Recent reports indicate he is forging a new alliance with his former underboss, Carmine Galante, a rising star in New York Mafia circles.

Bonanno maintains his family ties by tending to his ill wife Faye and by making frequent trips to the San Jose area to visit his sons Salvatore (Bill) and Joe Jr.

If he wants to contact members of his larger "family," a pay phone is not far away, and Bonanno makes frequent use of it as he continues to play his cat-and-mouse game with Tucson law enforcement personnel.

Salvatore "Bill" Bonanno

SALVATORE BONANNO

Racket: Credit card fraud, extortion.

DATE OF BIRTH: Oct. 5, 1932.

ARIZONA BASE: Tucson.

OCCUPATION: Construction.

CRIMINAL RECORD: Arrested seven times from 1960 to 1970 on charges including weapons possession, extortion, mail fraud, conspiracy and income tax evasion. Served three years in prison for mail fraud, tax evasion and perjury; released in 1974. Placed on five years probation in 1972 on extortion conviction. Ordered back to prison June 21 for parole violation.

ASSOCIATES: Brother Joseph Charles Bonanno Jr.

"Bill" Bonanno, big-mouthed and glib, seemed a candidate for "The Gang That Couldn't Shoot Straight" in the years before he went to prison in 1971.

He emerged from prison trim, sober and seemingly wiser. However, he was found guilty June 2 of violating his probation by "inaccurately reporting his income, and consorting with known felons."

Bonanno has of late operated Kachina Enterprises, a building company in Los Gatos, Calif.

Joe Bonanno Jr.

JOSEPH C. BONANNO JR.

Racket: Extortion.

DATE OF BIRTH: June 1, 1945.

ARIZONA BASE: Tucson.

CRIMINAL RECORD: Convicted in California of extortion, for which he served about two years in prison beginning in 1973. Found guilty June 2 of violating parole for "cumulative and repeated failure" to file accurate reports of income. Ordered back to prison June 21.

ASSOCIATES: Brother Salvatore "Bill" Bonanno.

During his Arizona years, Joe Jr. was known as the wilder of Mafia boss Joe Bonanno's two sons. His checkered career included hit parts in Western films.

He had an interest in the U.S. Mattress and Furniture Co. in the San Jose, Calif., area and more recently has operated a boutique called "The Cat" in Los Gatos, Calif.

A San Jose man testified at a recent parole hearing that Joe Jr. and his brother Bill threatened to kill him if he didn't pay a gambling debt.

Lloyd Brumage

LLOYD D. BRUMAGE

Racket: Drug smuggling.

DATE OF BIRTH: Aug. 16, 1933.

ARIZONA BASE: Florence.

OCCUPATION: Lawyer.

CRIMINAL RECORD: Sentenced in federal court in 1978 to two years in prison and fined $5,000 for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and to five years in prison for conspiracy to transport and distribute marijuana.

ASSOCIATES: Mike Norman, Marc Norman, Richard Williams.

Brumage, who served as Pinal County attorney from 1966 to 1968, was pilot for a 17-man smuggling operation that brought 24 tons of marijuana into the state during an eight-month period in 1974-75, according to law enforcement authorities.

Witnesses testified before a grand jury in 1976 that Brumage piloted half-ton loads of marijuana from Sonora to makeshift landing strips in the Casa Grande area.

He dropped out of sight shortly before he was scheduled to go on trial on indictments returned by the 1975 grand jury. He was taken into custody by Mexican authorities in 1976 and returned to the United States this year in a prisoner exchange program.

Brumage was disbarred in 1977 for failure to appear for trial on the 1975 charges.

KERMIT NELLO BURTON

Rackets: Forgery, fraud.

DATE OF BIRTH: Sept. 1, 1932.

ARIZONA BASE: Tucson.

OCCUPATION: Law clerk investigator.

CRIMINAL RECORD: Numerous arrests dating from 1966 for forgery and other crimes. Convicted in 1967 of counterfeiting a postal money order and sentenced to two years in prison. Pleading guilty in 1968 to conspiracy to transport counterfeiting tools in interstate commerce; sentenced to two years. Pleading guilty in 1969 to forgery of a stolen money order and forgery with a stolen credit card; sentenced to 12 to 14 years in prison.

Burton was the uncrowned king of forgers in Phoenix in the 1960s. When he was rolling, he employed more "paperhangers" than the city's wallpaper outlets.

Burton would buy an ID kit consisting of a stolen driver's license and other identification papers for $100 or more and would transfer photographs of his army of check-passers to the stolen licenses at a studio he established for that purpose.

Reports of stolen and forged checks in Phoenix dropped 75 percent when Burton finally went to prison, police said.

After his release from prison in 1973, Burton made his way to Tucson where he worked for a time as a law clerk and investigator for attorney Albert R. Gamble. Gamble was indicted in February in Tucson for filing a false tax return in 1972 and for failing to file returns in 1973 and 1974.

A recent venture of Burton's has been ABC Bankruptcies, a firm offering cut-rate bankruptcy counseling. The company is under investigation by the Pima County Attorney's Consumer Protection Division.

JOSE ANGEL CALDERON

Racket: Narcotics.

DATE OF BIRTH: Feb. 24, 1923.

ARIZONA BASE: Phoenix.

OCCUPATION: AFH.

CRIMINAL RECORD: Record of arrests for narcotics and other offenses dating from 1952. Served six months for a narcotics violation in 1954. Sentenced in 1956 to three years to life in prison for rape and robbery. Pleading guilty in 1976 to a cocaine charge and sentenced to a year in prison.

Calderon has a record of violent and narcotics-related criminal activity spanning a quarter century. His most recent arrest stemmed from delivery of nine ounces of cocaine to narcotics agents.

Calderon deals almost exclusively with Phoenix's large Mexican-American population, according to authorities.

SANDER CARAVELLO

Racket: Loansharking.

DATE OF BIRTH: July 23, 1908.

ARIZONA BASE: Phoenix.

OCCUPATION: Once ran delicatessen.

ASSOCIATES: William Rocco D'Ambrosio, Frank Mossuto.

Caravello, identified by the Illinois Legislative Investigative Commission as a loanshark, moved to Phoenix from Chicago in June 1975. He was seen frequently with hood D'Ambrosio and Mossuto at La Versailles restaurant in Scottsdale, where Caravello's wife was employed as bookkeeper. The liquor license at the restaurant was revoked in 1976 by the state Liquor Board on grounds that Mossuto and D'Ambrosio had hidden ownership and managerial interests in the bar.

Early Mafia peers are gone

Guile keeps Joe Bonanno on top

Long after all his peers are dead and gone, Joe Bonanno remains, still operating at the summit of organized crime, still deceiving with his Old World charm the majority of the public who brush with him.

Profaci, Magliocco, Luchese, Genovese, Gambino... all the New York Mafia dons who came to power in Bonanno's era are dead. But Bonanno, now 73, who assumed leadership of one of New York's five Mafia families in his mid-20s, is still operating a half century later.

THROUGH GUILE, through ruthlessness, through organizational skills equal to those of the heads of any multinational corporation, Joe Bonanno carries on.

From his modest home at 255 Sierra Vista Drive in Tucson, he makes forays to grocery stores and other local businesses, extending words of sympathy to those he encounters with problems, playing the genial, grandfatherly Sicilian.

But his trips also take him to pay phones in the area, where he carries on hours-long conversations, often in Sicilian dialect.

Who does he call? Law enforcement personnel have some ideas.

Some believe he is back into narcotics.

IT WAS BONANNO, with the aid of his onetime underboss, Carmine Galante, who forged the Marseilles to Montreal heroin route — the infamous French connection. Narcotics agents think Bonanno in recent years may have helped forge a new heroin connection, this time with Mexico.

Information from law enforcement sources indicates he has met in recent years with top Mexican heroin traffickers.

For example, he was reported to have flown by private aircraft two years ago from Nogales International Airport to Culiacan, heart of the Mexican heroin trade, and to have met with Victor Savella, brother of Jorge Savella, described by authorities as one of Mexico's top heroin dealers. From Culiacan he was said to have been driven to Mazatlan where he met for several hours with another Savella associate.

BONANNO ALSO IS believed to have met with Hector Mar Wong, Nogales, Sonora restaurateur regarded by narcotics authorities as a major heroin trafficker. Wong was sentenced last year to six months in prison and fined $9,000 on six firearms violations.

The Mexican connection could dovetail neatly with the ascendancy of former Bonanno underboss Galante to the leadership of Bonanno's old crime family. Galante was released from prison in 1974 after serving less than 12 years of a 20-year sentence for heroin trafficking.

Since his release, Galante has been making a concerted push for the position of "boss of bosses," which has been vacant since the death of Carlo Gambino in 1976. The only other contender for the top position has been former Gambino underboss Aniello Dellacroce. Bonanno is believed to have contacted New York associates and given support to Galante for the top spot.

GALENTE, HOWEVER, has temporarily botched things to some degree by being picked up for parole violation. Federal authorities claimed he was consorting with known criminals. He seems destined now to serve a few more of the 20 years to which he was originally sentenced.

Some observers think that should Galante reach the top, he would in effect be an operative of Bonanno, who is given more credit for organizational ability and streetcraft than Galante.

Unlike the majority of his Mafia cohorts, Bonanno comes from a patrician background. His parents were well-to-do and he was comparatively well-educated. His outlook is considered markedly less provincial than many of his cronies.

THAT SAVOIR FAIRE, coupled with his organizational talent, enabled Bonanno early on to develop ties with several criminal organizations other than his own. Law enforcement sources say he remains in contact with top organized crime figures from New York, Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago and the West Coast.

He has, for example, maintained ties with the Chicago syndicate from the days of Al Capone to the present. Bonanno's first known arrest was in 1930 in Brooklyn in connection with an operation believed to have been shipping machine guns to the Capone mob. Two Thompson submachine guns and 200 rounds of ammunition were seized from Bonanno and a companion at the time.

More recently, Bonanno was reported to have met with Tony Spilotro, considered the Chicago syndicate's main man in the Western U.S. and with other Chicago outfit hoodlums. This longstanding arrangement between Bonanno and the Chicago syndicate is believed to have led to an arrangement in which both factions exploit the Western states in a manner beneficial to each.

Bonanno has long been the dominant Mafia figure in the West. His influence has been particularly strong in Arizona, California and Colorado.

Bonanno's role in Colorado stretches back three decades or more. It was exerted through such figures as Rosario Dionisio of Trinidad and Jim Coletti of Pueblo and reached down to the Smaildome brothers, who controlled much of the illegal gambling in Denver.

As is the case in New York, Bonanno has outlived or outlasted many of his Colorado associates. Both Dionisio and Coletti are dead. The Smaildones are in prison. But Bonanno's influence is still said to be strong in the state. His interest in Colorado was underlined in 1974, when he was observed house-hunting in the Denver and Colorado Springs areas. He abandoned the pursuit when it became public knowledge.

Early incursions into California were said to be one factor leading to Bonanno's being stripped of his New York family by the Mafia's ruling council about 10 years ago.

Bonanno sought at one point to take up residence in California but law enforcement authorities denied him permission. His son, Salvatore (Bill) and Joe Jr., and daughter, Catherine, all live in the state. Law enforcement sources say it has been a longstanding desire of the elder Bonanno to establish a base of operations in California for his sons.

IN TUCSON, Bonanno maintains a low-profile, generally avoiding overt contact with other organized crime figures with the exception of a couple of old bodyguards, Peter Nettore and Peter Maggadine.

Contacts with other gangsters are believed to be maintained through pay phone conversations and through intermediaries with no known criminal background.

Law enforcement sources point to a meeting last year between a nephew of Carmine Galante and a Tucson salesman. They believe the younger Galante delivered a large sum of cash to the salesman to be given to Bonanno.

In another recent case, a law enforcement agency intercepted a message from a Canadian carnival operator to his wife, then a Tucson resident. The carnival operator instructed his wife that he was sending $100,000 to her that was to be given to Bonanno.

BONANNO IS ACTIVE in legitimate as well as illegitimate business. He has long been an investor in real estate in the Tucson area. One recent sale of northside Tucson property netted him $350,000.

In addition, his chess interest in the U.S. and Canada are such that the Justice Department once considered bringing antitrust action against him for monopolizing the Italian chess industry. One of his appellations is "The King of Mozarella."

His acumen for business in both legal and illegal spheres has led some observers to feel that he may yet wield the commanding position in the Mafia in this country.

LA COSA NOSTRA (LCN) FAMILY CRIMINAL ACTIVITIES IN ARIZONA;
RACKETEERING ENTERPRISE INVESTIGATION

The Phoenix Division's REI has addressed the LCN activities identified below, as well as updated and verified some of this division's intelligence and investigative matters concerning LCN families, members, and associates, and is attempting to determine the scope and range of LCN activities in Arizona. The REI will emphasize the development of quality LCN sources and develop and maintain quality liaison with local and Federal law enforcement agencies which have an interest in this area. The main thrust of the REI is to obtain specific information which can be used to open substantive criminal cases related to LCN criminal activities in Arizona.

The Phoenix Division, in cooperation with the Arizona Department of Public Safety (DPS) and the Scottsdale Police Department, has compiled a "Traditional Organized Crime Reference Book," which lists all known documented LCN members and associates who reside either full-time or part-time in Arizona or frequently visit or conduct business in Arizona. This document lists the individual by name, date of birth, residence, and LCN family. As of March, 1989, this document included [] LCN members and [] LCN associates who reside in Arizona, and [] members and associates who are frequent visitors to Arizona from other areas of the country. As part of this REI, the Phoenix Division intends to take the initiative and continue close liaison with other appropriate agencies to update and maintain the accuracy of this document. The LCN members and associates list for the Chicago and Bonanno LCN is current as of 8/15/92. The REI is in the process of updating and revising the list for other LCN families known to reside in or visit Arizona.

CHICAGO LCN

The Chicago LCN continues to be the largest and most active LCN family represented in the Phoenix Division. Investigation has identified over 100 members and associates who reside in Arizona and investigation has updated most of their Arizona addresses. The Chicago LCN is involved in a variety of legitimate businesses and criminal activities in Arizona, but only a small percentage of their legitimate businesses have been identified. Investigation is continuing in an effort to identify all of their legitimate businesses as well as identify and prosecute their criminal activities.

Among the more prominent and active members and associates of the Chicago LCN known to reside in the Phoenix area are the following:

As noted below, investigation indicates that LCN factions from the Bonanno LCN, the Scarfo/Bruno LCN family of Philadelphia, and possibly the Cleveland LCN family, are attempting to infiltrate the operation of Turf Paradise Race Track for the purpose of illegally affecting the outcome of races.

The Phoenix office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) is conducting an investigation into a political corruption matter which involves a City of Phoenix Municipal Court judge. Investigation conducted to date indicates that numerous telephone calls to and from the judge's residence and office have been made to [redacted] a documented member of the Chicago LCN. This investigation is still in the initial stages, but it does indicate the extent of the Chicago LCN influence in the Phoenix Division.

Preliminary investigation by the Phoenix and Chicago offices of the FBI indicate that a Chicago LCN associate is attempting to extort the owner of a Phoenix area auto parts store.

The associate provided financial backing, and when the store became successful, the owner was told to leave the business. The owner apparently walked away from the business after he was physically threatened.

The Chicago FBI believes that once under the control of the Chicago LCN, this business will begin to initiate illegal activities benefiting Chicago LCN members and associates. It is possible that this business may be utilized to sell stolen automobile parts obtained from the Chicago area and involve other activities associated with automobile theft. This investigation is also in its initial stages, but again, indicates the extent of the Chicago LCN influence in the Phoenix Division.

The following is a current list of Chicago LCN members and associates known to reside in Arizona:

other appropriate agencies to update and maintain the accuracy of this document. The main thrust of the REI will be to obtain specific information which could be used to open substantive criminal cases related to LCN criminal activities in Arizona.

Arizona has long been considered an "open territory" concerning LCN activities. The traditional LCN activity in Arizona has mostly resembled Las Vegas and, more recently, Miami, in contrast to the East Coast and mid-western pattern, wherein the area is tightly controlled by an LCN family.

The LCN family historically associated with Arizona has been that of JOSEPH BONANNO, SR., who was formerly one of the original LCN bosses in New York and who now resides in Tucson. Due to BONANNO's past incarceration, ill health, and temporary residence in California, the BONANNO family's activities and influence may have dissipated somewhat in Arizona. Investigation and source information gathered by the Phoenix Division have revealed that BONANNO is once again living in Tucson, although the extent of his criminal activity in Arizona is thought to have declined.
